

Globalization

The Politics of Development and Culture

We are increasingly living in a faster and smaller world.

Course information:

Honors 2033, Spring 2022

Wonik Kim

Political Science

Tues/Thurs, 10:30am-12:00pm

220 French House

Globalization has radically changed our daily life for better or worse.

Understand the nature of this gigantic transformation of social structures and cultural zones.

Through lectures and discussions, we will consider answers to key questions such as:

- What is the essence of globalization?
- What are the origins and consequences of globalization?
- Is free trade good for development?
- How serious is globalization backlash?
- Is globalization undermining democracy and the nation-state?
- How has globalization changed the gender role?
- What does it mean to be a world citizen?

For more information, please contact Dr. Wonik Kim
at wkim@lsu.edu

