

HNRS 2020: MEDICAL BIOETHICS

DR. MIKE ROLFSEN

MONDAY 6:00 PM TO 9:00 PM

FRENCH HOUSE

This course will begin with a discussion of bioethics and its past abuse, rapidly move on to the foundational principles in medical ethical decision making, and spend the rest of the semester discussing controversial topics ranging from assisted suicide and brain death to human enhancement and manipulation of our genetic code.

Taught by Michael Rolfsen, MD who is a full time practicing physician allowing for a rich blend of academic and practical education with real life experiences and cases to review.
